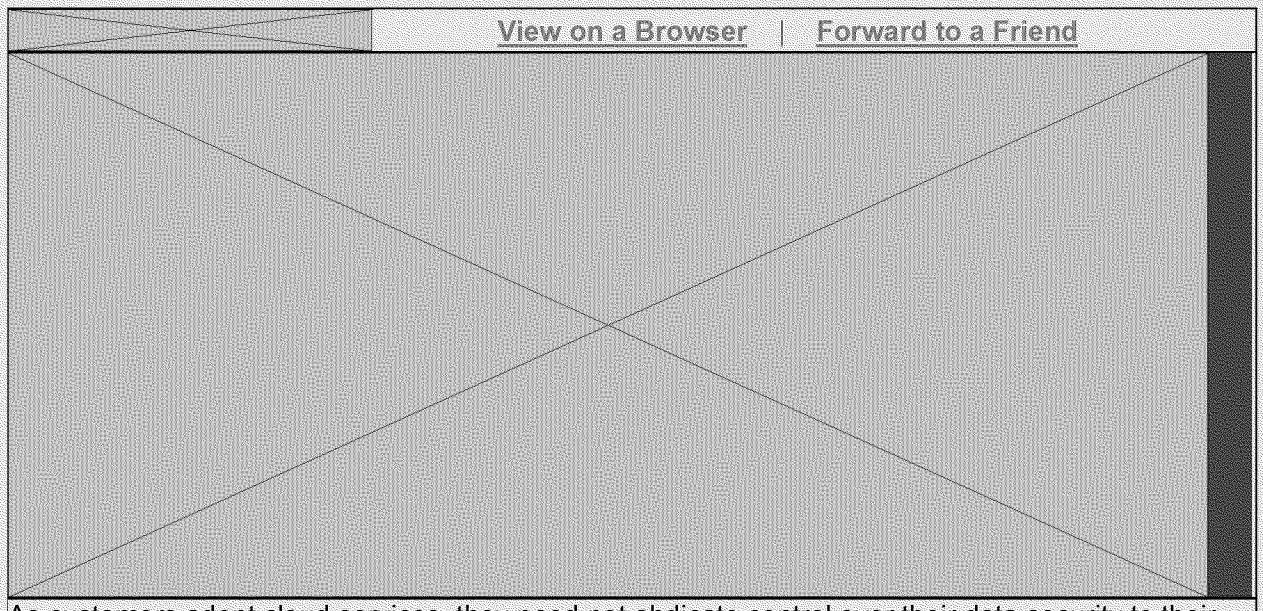
Subject: [SPAM] Is your data secure in the cloud? Register now and learn about multi-cloud key management



As customers adopt cloud services, they need not abdicate control over their data security to their cloud vendor. Companies that face regulatory requirements need better than 'default' security; they require more control and higher assurance levels than the out-of-the-box key management provided by their cloud vendor.

In this webinar, we'll will discuss challenges specific to multi-cloud key management.

Join our webinar and learn:
•Different approaches available for key management in the cloud
•How to select the right strategy from the many possible combinations
•What to look for in a key management system
